DIGNITY THROUGH ACTION WORKSHOP

PART 3

The Dignity Challenges

Introduction to the Dignity Government Initiatives

- □ Dignity in Care Campaign aims to stimulate a national debate around dignity in care and create a care system where there is zero tolerance of abuse and disrespect of older people. (Launched in November 2006)
- ☐ It is led by Government in partnership with many organizations.
- ☐ Lays out the national expectations of what a care service that respects dignity should value

Focuses on ten different challenges of dignity.

Dignity Champions

Dignity in Care Campaign - launched in November 2006

From the Department of Health website:

A Dignity Champion is someone who believes passionately that being treated with dignity is a basic human right, not an optional extra. They believe that care services must be compassionate, person-centered, as well as efficient, and are willing to try to do something to achieve this.

Dignity Champions are willing to:

- Stand up and challenge disrespectful behaviour act as good role models.
- Speak up about Dignity to improve service delivery.
- Influence/inform colleagues.

What can you do as a Dignity Champion?

- Collaborate with other Dignity Champions.
- Obtain promotional materials.
- Gain support from the Regional Dignity Lead.
- Submit/introduce Dignity Good Practice.

Autonomy is a characteristic part of:

The right to life

Freedom of thought and expression

Freedom of association

No discrimination

Autonomy is about a person's ability to control, cope with and make personal decisions about they live on a day to day basis, according to personal preferences.

Maintaining autonomy of the older person - are you really doing it?

- Support the pace of the individual
- □ Proper assessment or assumptions what is wanted or what is best:
- ☐ Balance choice against risk for the benefit of the older person
- ☐ Can older people influence decisions about their care?

Person-centered Care

Treat each person as an individual by offering a personalised service

Do your own care practices promote care and support for the older person as an individual

Individual:

Physical Needs

Cultural Needs

Spiritual Needs

Psychological Needs

Social Needs

Personal Preferences

Treating older people as individuals - are you really doing it?

What practical steps could you take tomorrow to help treat each person as an individual by offering personalised services?

Communication

Listen and support people to express their needs and wants

Communication is a two way process

Good Communication

- Be responsive, welcoming and available.
- Develop and foster professional interpersonal relationships with older people.
- Try to listen carefully to older people with an open mind.
- Communicate carefully:
  - o Proper introductions.
  - Addressing people with respect.
  - Show respect and courtesy in your manner, tone of voice and in what you say at all times.
  - Touch as a form of communication.

Risks to Communication

- 'Over familiarity' and 'over stepping the mark'.
- 'Talking over' older people as if they are not there.
- Privacy and humiliation issues e.g. talking about incontinence.
- Tone of voice and its volume.
- Talking to older people as if they are babies.
- Rough handling.

Sound two way communication - are you really doing it?

Complaints (without fear of retribution)

Ensure people feel able to complain without fear of retribution

Do older people have access to the information/they need?

Are complaints policies and procedures user-friendly and accessible?

Is openness and participation encouraged?

An effective organization should have:

- Routine Management Processes and a 'no blame culture'.
- Accurate and timely record keeping.
- A responsive Complaints Handling System.

Can older people complain without any fear - are you really doing it?

Care Partners

Engage with family members and carers as care partners

Relationship with Care Partners: Personal Care Practice (After DOE Project, 2008; RCN, 2008; SCIE, 2008)

- Relatives and carers should experience a welcoming ambience.
- Relatives and carers should be kept fully informed and receive timely information.
- Relatives and carers should be listened to and encouraged to contribute to the benefit of person receiving services.
- Use of admission checklists should be used to ensure no information is missed. Care partners are valuable sources of information. (The information necessary to care for an older person).
- Relatives and carers should know who is 'in charge' and how to raise issues.

Are we alert to the possibility that relatives' and carers' views may not always the same as those of the person receiving care services.

Do you really involve family members - are you really doing it?
